A. H. MALTBY,

HAS RECENTLY PUBLISHED

SCENES AND CHARACTERS IN COLLEGE.

BY A GRADUATE OF YALE OF THE CLASS OF 1821. 12mo.

"This volume presents a truthful and interesting portraiture of college life. The scenes and incidents are graphically described, and with a spirit and zest that indicate the liveliest sympathy on the part of the author. The comments which they suggest are so rational and so judiciously expressed, that they can not fail to modify and correct the less mature views of those who are now actors on the same stage of life. We commend the work to the college student, and to all who take an interest in his career."—Journal of Commerce.

"They struck us, in reading them, to be the spontaneous impulses of a cultivated mind, large and varied experience with the world, an evident love of literature and great practical good sense. We do not know the author, but he is of the many sons of Yale which the venerable mother need not be ashamed of."—N. Y. Evangelist.

"One of the most graphic and interesting pictures of student life we ever remember to have read."—N. Y. Herald.

"On reading the book, we could not but think that had such a volume as this fallen into our hands at the beginning of our college course, it would have made us wiser and better. We can not but admire and commend the habit which out of so common an incident as a class meeting should lead him to such train of useful reflections."—New Englander.

The Literary World concludes a spirited review of the work with saying: "We sincerely advise every son's mother to place a copy of this little book in the hands of every mother's son when he leaves home for college."

"A seasonable Book.—A. H. MALTBY, has published one of the most readable and charming books that was ever issued from the New Haven press. It is called 'Reminiscences of Scenes and Characters in College, by a graduate of Yale.' The topics treated are various and attractive; it is just the volume of experience which will be read with pleasure by the graduate, and special instruction by the Sophomore and Freshman. The writer is an accomplished clergyman, and it is hardly necessary to add that he has furnished a work of no ordinary practical interest and merit."—New Haven Palladium.
